Training Agenda

• Goal is to encourage Buy-in and Support for Arizona’s Employment First initiatives and Community Integrated Employment (CIE)
• Discuss the fundamentals of changing minds and encourage new behaviors
• Look at how to apply these principles to our various stakeholders
• Share promising practices from other states
• “Stakeholder” groupwork
  • Evaluate current messages and methods now in place in AZ.
  • Identify some of AZ’s “Bright Spots” and effective practices; and not so effective practices
  • Brainstorm new ways to “message EF and CIE” and “encourage change”
  • Report out to group
• Q&A
• Wrap up (CEU’s and surveys)
Employment First

• EF initiatives and CMS settings rule, DOJ and the DOL support, WIOA – the push is for employment and integration

• We have support for community employment and inclusion, interagency collaboration at all levels

• We have effective tools and strategies

• We know this works
Arizona's Employment First Executive Order

“Opportunity for all means that everyone in our society has the opportunity to get a job and participate in the workforce….this executive order focuses on empowering all Arizonans, and our hope is that it will mean more and better jobs for individuals with disabilities.”

Governor Ducey
November 15th, 2017
The Focus of Employment First Initiatives

• Establish new policies/procedures that encourage and support CIE

• Increase collaboration between state agencies, crosswalk and streamline state services for people with disabilities

• System change and service transformation:
  • Revising service definitions
  • Realigning funding and rates
  • Providing guidance and training for service coordinators
  • Supporting service transformation efforts within provider community
Our goal is to build a flexible, person-centered service system that is focused on employment and community inclusion for people with I/DD.
Gaining Buy-in for Change

To make significant change, and solve big ambiguous problems, we must encourage creativity, open minds, optimism, excitement and hope.

Build a Foundation for Making Change

- Engagement, input and buy-in
- Understanding, transparency, collaboration
- Planning and a clear road forward
- Ability/capacity/resources
Gaining Buy-in and Making Change: The Do’s

• Appeal to the emotion and be mindful of your audience
• Engage all stakeholders early
• Focus on solutions not problems. What’s working? How do we do more of this?
• Provide training and step by step instructions. What looks like resistance is often a lack of clarity.
• Toe-in-the-water (Shrink the change)
• Knowledge doesn’t always change behavior: Shape the path, start small, “carrots and sticks”- only sometimes
• Admit that this is a process that includes failure and learning
Gaining Buy-in
Messaging Employment First and CIE
Elements of an Effective Message

• Tailored to your audience
  • Their perspective, their concerns

• Appeal to the emotion: Why is this right (or wrong)

• Educate people on methods, supports and resources available

• Show - Don’t tell

• Use peers, not professionals
Who is Our Audience?

- State Agencies
- Regional Staff & Service Coordinators
- Service Providers
- Individual and their Families
- Employers

All Stakeholders see the issue differently. Our messages must be tailored to address each group’s perspectives.

How do these stakeholders view Employment First and Community Integrated Employment?
Appeal to the Emotion

Why do people go to work?

Why does what is in place today need to change?

Reframe How We See Our Services and Roles

• Services and supports, not programs
• Facilitators and teachers, not care takers or cruise directors
• Pre-vocational services are for teaching employability skills, it is not a job, it is not about production quotas
• Re-purposing Day Services, no longer social outings or field trips. Discovery and skill building
Reframe “Disability”

- Employment is not about what is aberrant or broken, or what needs fixing- It is about adding value

- We need to see Disability as “Human Variance” and focus on a person’s skills and gifts

- Our language, marketing materials and services need to focus on Skills, not Deficits

If we don’t believe people can work, why would anyone else?
Focus on Solutions, not Problems

• What are Arizona’s “bright spots”?
  • Look at how they are doing it and why they are successful

• Incorporate what you are learning into state policy, guidance materials, marketing materials and trainings

• Find your pioneers, innovators, big thinkers. Bring them into the discussion

• Showcase successful efforts
Buy-in Doesn’t Always Change Peoples’ Behavior

We are creatures of habit
Carrots and Sticks?

Studies have shown that respect, purpose and autonomy lead to better outcomes than Extrinsic Incentives- or disincentives.
Effective Ways to Change Behavior

Shape the Path

Shrink the change

Peer Pressure-
Rally the herd
Gaining Buy-in: State Agencies
Set the stage and blur the lines
State’s Role in Creating a New Mindset

- Promote Employment First through policies, realigning funding, and revising waiver services, guidance and processes
- Carry the Employment First Flag for Arizona
- Collect and report data on CIE
- Expand provider capacity
- Showcase the state’s efforts and quality services
Shape the Path:
Set the Stage, Realign Waivers & Funding

• Presumption of employability for all
• Focus on career planning, placement and advancement
• System needs to be flexible and responsive (Braided Services. hourly service rates)
• Individualize services, staffing ratios must be small
• Encourage fading of provider supports
• MOU’s, blueprints and blend funding (Education, VR and waiver services)
Shape the Path: Re-writing Waivers and Funding Realignment

• Establish “Pathways to Employment” community-based services

• Pay for outcomes desired (CIE, CE placements, hours worked), not services provided (outcome-based milestones vs. fee-for-service)

• Outcome-based, milestone payments
  • Results and best practice is rewarded vs. a “fee-for-service”

• Tiered rates based on level of disability, length of employment and outcomes
Braidable Services are Critical

• Connections between VR, DDD, Workforce System. State-level MOU. But, are services braided, cross-walked at the local level?

• Waiver Redesign: How can services be braided? Are service coordinators aware? Is there local provider capacity for these services?

• Do waiver services promote pathways to CIE and can Service Coordinators “braid” multiple services?
Other Promising Practices

• A Designated “Employment First Coordinator” (or department) charged with improving employment outcomes and supporting service transformation.

• Establish a peer-to-peer Community of Practice, conduct “Employment Summits”.

• Provide State resources for trainings and service transformation grants.

• Include “Discovery” and work-based experiences and internships in transition curriculum and waivers service definitions.

• “Employment Collaboratives” (MA), partnerships with providers, Provider does “discovery”, Emp. Collaborative does placement, Provider then does job coaching & follow alongs.
Gaining Buy-in: Regional Offices

Where the rubber meets the road
Case Management and Service Planning: The Gateway to CIE

• Service Coordination is a complex job.
• Must see the ISP process as more than brokering services and cutting checks
• Employment must be treated as the First Priority for adults
• Must be trained to alleviate concerns fears and misconceptions about Integration and Employment
• Service Coordinators should be held accountable for client progression
Encouraging Integration and Employment

- DOJ (2011) case manager role is to encourage employment and address concerns—not “neutrality”
- “No, thank you” is the start of the conversation, not the end
- Waiver Redesign: creates a pathway process
- Revise policies and procedures to promote CIE

Ohio Employment First’s Guide for Policy and Procedure Development:

Encouraging Competitive Integrated Employment (CIE)

• How and when is the “WORK” “question being asked? The earlier the better
• Who is the best person to present this idea to the individual and families? It requires:
  • Expertise and knowledge of CIE and local employment services
  • Ability to address concerns and perceived barriers
  • Materials that demonstrate successful outcomes
• Is there a process in place to document and address concerns
• Exposure proceeds Interest- -AND informed choice
• Ohio’s waiver re-design: Where are you on the pathway to CIE, a 1,2,3, or 4?
Service Coordinators Must:

• Focus is on the person’s goals- not a provider’s menu of services. Goal is not to “find a slot available”

• Drive provider transformation (in a polite way):
  • “Here is what is requested. Can you provide it? Can you support this goal?”
  • “If not, why not? What is needed? How can the county help?”

The Division’s Regional Offices can play a “leadership” role in building the capacity of the local provider community
Regional Level: Spearheading Change

• Create a Employment First Taskforce to focus on local issues and conduct Employment First Summits

• Provide an “Employment Facilitation Services”
  • Family trainings/Service Navigator
  • Benefits Analysis (WISA)
  • Self-advocacy/self-determination

• Build provider capacity by funding trainings or providing stipends or CIE incentive payments

• Collaborate with the State’s EF efforts- communicate success and challenges in your county.
Other Creative Ideas, Effective Approaches

• Identify high performing, “employment focused” case managers. What were they doing that was different? Develop a State-wide Peer-panel training for other CM’s. Added “experience in employment” to the qualifications for case manager positions (WI)

• Merit raises for Case Manager’s who help people go to work. Tying placement % to annual evaluations and compensation (WI)

• Re-prioritize ISP procedures and forms- Employment is the first topic of discussion at all Adult ISP meetings (IA)

• Establish an Employment First team- demonstrates a true commitment to making it happen (OH)
Gaining Buy-in: Service Providers and Direct Service Staff

Plant the Flag and Rally the Heard
Resistance or Lack of Clarity?

• Supporting Community Employment is a completely different approach from site-based programming

• Engage in process
  • EF taskforce, Service Transformation, Waiver re-design discussions

• Employment Summits, Community of Practices

• Provide trainings and guidance

• Provide tools/resources for evaluating services: essential elements and best practice
DSP’s: Get the Right People on the Bus

- Very different job, requires a different skills set
- Hire “connectors”, business backgrounds vs. social workers or care givers
- Re-write job descriptions: Community Instructors and Employment Specialists
- Include goals in Annual Reviews that reflect community & employment outcomes you want to see Restructure Services and Processes

- Shift the focus to discovery and community instruction
- Make the “inside” look like work
- Reframe: Skills, not deficits
- Repurpose day services
- Revisit Program Design: braided services, blur the lines
- Value Stream Mapping: build a road map for change
- Include DSP’s and families on team
- Visit programs that are doing it
- New location needed?
Shift the Mindset of Staff

• Identify your “Pioneers” and “early adopters” these individuals will be your key to “rallying the herd”

• Doing this because it is the right thing to do
  • What makes life meaningful for you?
  • Day in the life

• Job is changing, not going away. You are now Dream-Makers, not care-takers

• Start really small: 1x week- you will take a group into community to do discovery

• Identify a pilot group (not all ringers) for placement and make it an agency-wide effortssssssssss
Provide Training, Resources and Support

- Customized Employment methodology
- Systematic Instruction
- Discovery, setting goals and teaching in community settings
- Professionalize the job: ACRE certified trainings, CESP
Re-Purposing Day Services

- Meaningful, individualized, person-driven
- Integrated, community-based settings
- All about skill building
- Purposeful, outcome-oriented
- Focused on Employment and community inclusion
- Building confidence and independence in community
- Increasing stamina/endurance
Promote CIE and Share Successes

- Website/newsletters, written from the perspective of the agency, direct service staff and individuals
- Create a Wall of Fame
- Job placement “fishbowl”
- Lunch-n-learns: peer presentations about new job
- Visits to CIE sites
Gaining Buy-in with Individuals and Families

Building trust and pathways
Gaining Trust and Buy-in With Families

• Bring families on as active “partners” from Day 1
• Reframe perceptions of son/daughter (PPP)
• Share successes and progress (not just bad stuff)
• Work on goals that will lead to independence at home and/or directly impact care-giver’s life
• Help them understand and navigate the system
• Trainings and family support groups
• Share success stories written by family members in newsletters/website
• Shrink the change. Ask for a smaller step forward

Getting Buy-in at the Individual Level

• Interest precedes Motivation: show people what work could look like (steer clear of stereotypical jobs)
• Start slowly, “helping” in the community
• Discovery process, build a summary for each individual using a profiling tool (Positive Personal Profile)
Building Skills and Contributing in Valued Ways

Volunteering
Explore Ideas, Verify Interest/skill levels

- Research “passions”, target possible employment ideas
- Next step: go look, try it out. Informed choice is KEY
- Get your hands dirty - not just a field trip. Identify skills
- Volunteering - “One and done” or may need multiple opportunities to “try in out”
The “Benefits” Issue

• When to bring it up? It can be a very confusing- and cause families to just throw in the towelss
• Provide benefit trainings and promote your DB101
• Increase WISA’s in each county
  • Regional VR or DDD offices in other states have taken on this role
  • Could be part of a DDD Employment Facilitation team
  • Partner with the provider community?
• In Virginia, DARS funds Benefits Analysis as a billable service for open cases, in addition a stipend is provided to Service Providers to certify staff (WISA training)
Employment First in Arizona: Afternoon Work Groups

Break into Stakeholder groups (check your badge)

2) Evaluate current message and methods in place now.
   - Does it reflect and address Stakeholder’s concerns/perspective?
   - Does it Appeal to the Emotion?
3) Identify some of AZ’s “Bright Spots” and effective programs/practices. How can these be scaled up?
4) Brainstorm ways to improve “message EF and CIE” and “encourage change” Are there additional things that can be done to Shape the Path and encourage change?
5) Report back to the group
